Thank you for your interest in the Abstract/Non-objective painting weekend.

This will be an opportunity for lots of support in your work. Keeping the workshop small and intensely packed in one weekend will speed up your connection to making progress and discovering new areas in your art to pursue.

I know this because this is exactly the way bold things happened in my art and my life. Over the last 20 years of exploring art and sharing it with others in nearly every way that is possible, 2 things always prevail to create success: Truth and Surrender. These two words can both be thought of as verbs in our art making and in life.

If you are ready for Truth and Surrender, tell me why:
